DESCRIPTION

Advanced Accounting builds on intermediate accounting concepts and examines complex external-reporting issues that arise in practice. This course will further exam complex accounting topics including revenue recognition, share based compensation, R&D costs and will also cover equity method accounting, consolidation, segment and interim reporting, foreign-currency translation, and SEC reporting requirements. While this course is oriented toward US GAAP, we will make references to IFRS concepts and highlight key differences.

The purpose of financial reporting is to provide meaningful information to investors, creditors, managers, and other stakeholders so they can assess a company's performance, prospects, and risk. Through problem sets and real-company disclosure analysis, students will learn to apply US GAAP and understand how accounting policy choices shape financial reports and the stakeholder assessments.

This course is generally aligned with the contents of the BAR section of the CPA exam. However, we will not be covering financial statements of employment benefit plans or government entities.

COURSE OUTCOMES/OBJECTIVES

By the end of this course, students will:

- Become familiar with the standard setting bodies (FASB, IASB, and the SEC) and the process by which standards are set.
- Able to explain the conceptual framework for complex financial reporting analysis
- Understand the objectives of financial statements.
- Have an appreciation of certain key differences between US GAAP and IFRS.
- Possess an awareness of the lines of service within public accounting firms.
- Be confident with the contents of the BAR section of the CPA exam.
- Be able to prepare consolidated financial statements, including noncontrolling interests, and perform intercompany eliminations.
- Determine consolidation outcomes for Variable Interest Entities (VIEs).
- Gain a deeper understanding of certain complex accounting issues including revenue recognition, share-based compensation etc.
- Be knowledgeable of SEC reporting requirements.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Integrity of scholarship is essential for an academic community. As members of the Rady School, we pledge ourselves to uphold the highest ethical standards. The University expects that both faculty and students will honor this principle and in so doing protect the validity of University intellectual work. For students, this means that all academic work will be done by the individual to whom it is assigned, without unauthorized aid of any kind.

The complete UCSD Policy on Integrity of Scholarship can be viewed at:

STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

A student who has a disability or special need and requires an accommodation in order to have equal access to the classroom must register with the Office for Students with Disabilities (OSD). The OSD will determine what accommodations may be made and provide the necessary documentation to present to the faculty member.

The student must present the OSD letter of certification and OSD accommodation recommendation to the appropriate faculty member in order to initiate the request for accommodation in classes, examinations, or other academic program activities. No accommodations can be implemented retroactively.

Please visit the OSD website for further information or contact the Office for Students with Disabilities at (858) 534-4382 or osd@ucsd.edu.
