DESCRIPTION

MGTP 443 Global Taxation is a four-credit course that counts towards your MPAC degree requirements. Global Taxation offers an examination of the foundations of corporate international tax strategies that are of interest to the “C” suite and Board Members, with a focus on US multinational corporations. We will focus on the tax economics of corporate formations, operations, reorganizations, liquidations, and related international tax consequences of corporate structuring alternatives and entity classification consequences.

Your grade for this course is determined by (i) 25% - your attendance and participation in the sessions, (ii) 25% - effort level on discussion problems, (iii) 25% - quizzes, and (iv) 25% - the final exam.

Documenting your participation is an important part of your academic record. Your registration and sign-in at the sessions you attend this quarter will become part of your official academic record.

OBJECTIVES

This class will provide you with a foundation of US and international jurisdictional tax topics that help support and drive effective business decisions. As we strive for high level understandings of the topics that will allow you to issue spot, we will have fun along the way, learning how multinational corporations navigate an ever-changing international tax landscape to reduce risk while returning increased after-tax cash flows.
